CALL FOR SUBMISSIONS

Placed presents projects by artists, designers, architects, planners and other urbanists that are directed toward cultural innovation, action and change in Australian cities, suburbs, towns and communities.

Placed will catalogue and map 100 or so projects produced in Australia in the last five years. This includes interventions, artworks, events etc that are articulated in urban, suburban and community situations and that have catalysed or enabled other ways of thinking, living and doing in the urban environment. These projects, regardless of scale, are genuinely concerned with the way we envision, create and live in our places.

If you are interested in having your project considered for this publication, please send:

- Location of the project - please be specific i.e. provide the street address if possible
- No more than two A4 pages of text describing the project i.e. who, what, how, when, where, why
- Two photographs or other relevant images of the project
- Contact details.

Please send this information by:

- Email to lcarroli@pacific.net.au or
- Post to Linda Carroli, Placed, PO Box 334, Aspley Qld 4034.

Deadline for submissions is 1 May 2009.

Please contact Linda at lcarroli@pacific.net.au for more information.

Linda Carroli is a Brisbane based writer, researcher and consultant. She writes a regular feature about urban creativity and innovation for Arts Hub. More information at <http://flytrapper.synthasite.com>.

Placed is produced as part of the Placing Project, a multifaceted cultural writing, research and publishing project.
